City keeps options open for landing Tiger Stadium

By AL POST

ANP Staff Writer

Will the roar of the Detroit Tigers some day be sounded with a "R-R" Romulus accent? Mayor Beverly McAnally revealed Monday afternoon that it "has never been a secret" that her administration is committed to growth of various business and recreational types for the city which includes a sports facility, family style amusement park or casino gambling.

But, McAnally said she believes that Mike Ilitch, Tiger baseball owner, at this time is totally committed to restoring Detroit to its former promi-

She also said that Detroit, if it can get state financial backing, will definitely be the prime site consideration for a new Tiger stadium.

If that prospect is not feasible, McAnally said she wants Ilitch to know first hand that Romulus would be the ideal backup stadium location.

The issue also came to the forefront at Monday night's city council meeting, following a recent column by Detroit columnist Bob Talbert.

Talbert stated in his column that "highly placed sources tell me Romulus is 'still is in the play' for an alternate site for the proposed new Tiger Stadium.

"What's more, the little city near Detroit Metropolitan Airport could well emerge as the winner in this investment sweepstakes, if the city of Detroit delays things with still another gambling referendum."

Talbert said "I'm told the land needed in Romulus is already owned by a millionaire, out-of-state developer, who might even build the stadium free for Ilitch.'

McAnally said if Detroit is scratched for any reason from the Tiger Stadium competition, she believes "Romulus is the most logical place to locate the stadium."

McAnally also stated Romulus is close enough that the Tigers can hold on to its Detroit heritage, be located on a major thoroughfare for convenient fan commuting and be next to a major airport for plane travel for the Tigers and their out-of-the-area rivals.

In an era when most people are so environmentally concerned, McAnally said Romulus could offer a site that would not need to have buildings demolished or other structures razed.

Was McAnally one of the "highly placed sources" Talbert conferred with before writing his column? The mayor said "No." But, she said she has no problems letting people know that she is thrilled that others also think Romulus is the best alternate location for Ilitch's new "Field of Dreams."

Another gun mishap kills Romulus boy, 6

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

A 6-year-old Romulus boy was killed Dec. 27 in an Oakbrook Townhouse apartment as a result of an apparent gun accident, according to Romulus police.

This is the second shooting accident this month in the community. Romulus Detective Lt. Kenneth Kraus stated that James Allen Hunt was killed instantly shortly before 9:30 p.m. Monday in an Oakbrook Townhouse apart-

Kraus said Scott Martin, 28, of 30421 Teak Lane, called police on the 9-1-1 line at 9:25 p.m. stating "My girl friend's son just shot himself with my

Police and ambulance crews rushed to the scene, but found the boy was already dead as a result of head wounds.

A neighbor reported that the victim's mother, Cheryl Benitez, 26, ran out of the house, crying repeatedly "How could this happen? How could this happen?"

Kraus said that is what Romulus police are still trying to figure out, since the pump style shotgun was almost as tall as the little boy.

"We are still trying to put the pieces together," Kraus said. "We're trying to figure out how the gun went off and struck the boy in the head."

Martin, Benitez and a 3-year-old boy were in the living room area, while the victim was alone in the kitchendining room area, according to police.

Mayor raps Roman Bergeron rejects resignation request

ANP Staff Writer

Veteran Romulus City Councilman Noah "Pete" Bergeron and an advertisement in a recent Romulus Roman newspaper were rapped Monday night by citizens and government officials.

Sondra Stepchuk, an opponent of the planned environmental injection well, called upon Bergeron to resign his council post because of what she considers a "conflict of interest" in the well issue.

Bergeron, son-in-law of John Ryznar who is the owner of the land where the well is to be located, refused repeated requests in recent weeks to promise to abstain from future votes on the well issue and to remain free of executive sessions involving discussions about the city's litigation against Environmental Disposal Services (EDS).

The City of Romulus is now locked in legal battle with EDS over the need for city permits to continue the well project.

Two other citizens, Verlie Wilhide and Paul Lewkowicz, members of Romulus Environmentalists Caring About People (RECAP) protest group, questioned Bergeron about statements in a Detroit News article that claims he and Douglas Wicklund, EDS president, discussed the land option agreement in the Marriott Hotel lobby in Southfield. Bergeron, whose facial images ranged from smiles to snarls during the pointed criticism by citizens, denied he ever was in the hotel room as stated in the Detroit News.

Bergeron said the News story was erroneous and contained "sensational claims because they are trying to sell newspapers."

The News writer attributed the claim about the alleged meeting between Bergeron, Wicklund and another early interested party, Robert Ryan, to an unnamed Wicklund attor-dressed to me in the Roman and the next day received my official copy," McAnally said. "Obviously they wanted people to read it in the newspaper before I got my copy.'

The mayor also urged that the Roman in the future identify what is an editorial, what is a letter to the editor and what is an advertisement for the benefit of its readers.

"Since the letter was not marked as an advertisement, people were calling me about the letter, thinking that I had submitted it to the newspaper," McAnally said. "I think the Roman needs to offer the same style integrity that they are asking of others.

Should gambling issue be placed on the ballot?

Voters in Romulus could be asked to decide if they want to gamble on opening casinos in the community.

The issue was raised Monday night by casino opponent Sherry Hicks who asked that council members state publicly whether they favor having casinos located in Romulus.

Hicks claimed when she asked Councilman Randy Gear about the issue, he told her that she was the first person he talked to that was opposed to the casino concept.

When Hicks asked council members Monday night for a public announcement, Mayor Beverly McAnally said "Let's remember we are not permitted by state law to operate such casinos at this time."

"I want you to know that I didn't talk to (Detroit Newspaper columnist Bob Talbert. But I ask people, if we are going to bear all the trouble of having people travel through Romulus to get to outside gambling locations, shouldn't we share some of the profits," McAnally added.

Several residents asked about Talbert's quote "I'm told that the gambling casinos have already been approved by Romulus elected officials and a local vote is not necessary for approval."

Both McAnally and Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks said they were not sure if a public referendum is necessary in Romulus.

And, when asked by Hicks to state a preference for or against casinos, Banks said "It would be hard to issue such a stand, since we have no idea yet what such a gambling project would include."

Banks admitted to talking to Hicks earlier, but said she has also talked with other citizens, who favor the casino possi-

Hicks said her main concern was that the public understand which council members favor casino gambling as well as those who might be opposed.

'We don't want to face another dilemma on council actions years from now on casinos, like we are right now on the injection wells," Hicks scriptures, but they, the Roman staff, need to be reminded that the root of all evil is the love of money. That's all it adds up to," McAnally added.

Even former Councilman Russell Lambert appeared at the meeting, asking when and where the $500,000 royalty agreement had been reached between the city and EDS.

"We never agreed to such an agreement while I was on the council and unless some recent deal was approved in the Mayor's office," Lambert said.

McAnally quickly interjected "Madam chairman, I object to his innuendoes!'

Almost lost in the emotional charges and denials was the introduction of an EDS preliminary site plan. But because of the size of the gun and placement of the wound, all other options also are being explored.

Earlier on Dec. 19, a 20-yearold Dearborn Heights man was killed, police said, when he apparently shot himself in the mouth with a pistol at the Merriman Executive Inn near the Detroit Metro Airport.

Year begins with blasts, anger and fatalities

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

January

The year of 1993 began with a bang this past January, as small blasts conducted by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department inside homes Metro Airport had purchased in preparation for airport expansion, angered Mayor Beverly McAnally and the members of the City Council.

McAnally stated the key element of her anger centered around the fact that the county never contacted the city prior to the blasts.

The county claimed its representatives had contacted the city public safety officials, but the word some how never reached the mayor's office prior to the explosions.

The city initially planned to sue the county and airport regarding the blasts, but the matter was later settled outside of

The American Legion officials revealed plans to form a new post in Romulus. Efforts continue to sign up enough charter members today so that the post can be operational soon.

Plans were begun in January to begin a massive asbestos abatement program at both Romulus Public Library and Romulus City Hall.

The plans also called for the installation of fire detection equipment and renovations to make the buildings accessible to the handicapped.

The library has temporarily been switched to the old Mount Pleasant School, while renovations are taking place.

Two members of one Romulus family were killed midday Jan. 15, when their truck was struck by a car fleeing police from Van Buren Township.

The frustration over the low scores led school officials to program a MEAP academy later in the year, to aid students with future tests.

Mr. N. Peter Bergeron City Councilman City of Romulus 11111 Wayne Road Romulus, MI 48174

Dear Mr. Bergeron:

Thank you for your inquiry of December 9, 1993, regarding the recently drilled deep disposal well in the City of Romulus (Environmental Disposal Systems (EDS) #1).

You have requested that all data obtained during construction of the well be analyzed and questions regarding well use and groundwater contamination be answered. The analysis requested is ongoing and a determination of well suitability is, therefore, premature. My staff have not, however, seen anything to date that would negatively affect well suitability.

You also expressed concerns regarding protection of underground sources of drinking water. I have included a copy of a letter of response that was sent to a number of other citizens along with a report entitled Class I Deep Subsurface Wastewater Injection prepared by the UIPC Research Foundation. The letter addresses your concerns. A major purpose of the Mineral Well Act (Act 315, PA 1969) is protection of underground drinking water supplies.

I understand that your community believes that waste injected in the EDS #1 well may surface in surrounding communities and contaminate underground drinking water supplies. I asked my staff to calculate the approximate distance away from the well that waste would travel in the receiving formation after 30 years of continuous pumping. Using a pay thickness of 216 feet, an average porosity of 14 percent, daily injection rates of 100,000 to 200,000 gallons, and assuming radial flow and 50 percent displacement of formation fluids, the calculated distance of travel would be between 1/3 to 1/2 mile from the wellbore with no path to the surface. I feel confident in saying that underground sources of drinking water will not be affected and that waste injected into this well will not surface in surrounding communities.

I hope this letter has addressed your concerns regarding the Environmental Disposal Systems nonhazardous disposal well. If you have any further questions, I encourage you to call Mr. Thomas Godbold (517-334-6945) of my staff.

Sincerely,

R. Thomas Segall

We've seen Christmas

Christmas is supposed to be a time of giving...of love and of good will toward our fellow man.

This year, thanks to the wonderful people in our community, Christmas filled that description as it never has before. We watched in wonder as local business owners donated their time, merchandise and money to help needy or unfortunate people in our area. We saw the members of The local Goodfellows out on the streets collecting money to provide food baskets and toys to see that there truly was "No child without a Christmas."

Civic groups including the Jaycees, Lions, Rotary Clubs and church groups provided more gifts this year than ever before, or so it seemed. There was a proliferation, this year, of holiday parties where hosts asked their guests to bring an unwrapped toy for donation to one or more char-

To say we were touched by the good-heartedness and generosity of our neighbors and those with whom we do business does not reflect the degree of awe and gratitude

This year, we asked for special wishes from area residents so that we might be able to be a part of these special efforts to help. The response was overwhelming-not only from those who needed help, but from area businesses and groups willing and eager to provide it.

There was the local "Santa" who delivered five bicycles donated to us for distribution to children who might not otherwise have a Christmas. A new business in the area, FunCoLand, has employees who donated Sega games for gifts for children in the area. The Goodfellows, who seem to personify the spirit of Christmas, donated toys for children in both Inkster and Westland.

Walter's Appliance on Michigan Avenue made a dream come true with the gift of a stove to a family who's plight touched the hearts of all who read about these special people.

Dan Stall donated a Christmas tree from his farm which brought the spirit of the season into a home without any other traces of the holiday. Sam Corrado and his donations of food baskets which brought Christmas dinner to needy families will be long remembered for his good spirit and his good works.

JCPenney management donated gift certificates which provided clothing and toys for families who had no coats or warm clothes--and who thought less of the holiday than of mere survival during this difficult time in their lives.

And, Briarwood Ford who provided a donation for a down-payment on a car which will enable an entire family a new start in life.

Think of these people, and of Ron and Jane Vesche at Main Street Flowers in Belleville, who answered the prayers of a diabetic blind woman and made her Christmas wishes come true.

The workers at the Ford Michigan Truck Plant and Assembly Plant in Wayne collected Toys For Tots and distributed them in the area. As always, although hard-pressed this year, the Salvation Army lived up to the reputation and the name of the organization. They indeed, saved many from the despair and desolation of being cold and going hungry this season.

There are so many, many more. We're sure to have missed naming some of them, but that doesn't mean their contributions were overlooked or unappreciated. The magnitude of the efforts this year came from so many contributions and gifts of so many different sizes and from so many different sources. A number of them would not accept any publicity about their good works.

Many you will find advertising on the pages of Associated Newspapers, they are your neighbors and your friends. And they give as much to this community as they can-more than they ever admit or take credit for.

Many who donated food, money, toys, groceries or services requested anonymity for the altruistic acts this year.

But we need each of them to know that they may think they know what they gave-but the real impact, the real gift, was not only to the needy families and disadvantaged children. The real gift was the feeling of community, of generosity, of hope and of humility they instilled in all of us here who were a part of or witness to their efforts.

We won't forget what we saw this year-the real spirit of Christmas.

Story and opinion are criticized

To the editor

Your editorial "Whatever it's worth" and companion article "Sweeping success" were superficial, inaccurate and demeaning to custodians and blue collar working men and women everywhere.

Your college-educated staff and editorial writers should recognize, as Mr. Bill Taylor did, that you're comparing apples to oranges. Teachers work nine months annually, while custodians work a full 12 months per year. Using the figures provided by Mr. Taylor, the starting Wayne-Westland teachers' salary of $27,620 should be compared to a starting Wayne-Westland custodian's earnings for the same nine months, $19,437 (30 percent less than teachers) to render an accurate comparison.

The $55,595 earned in nine months by a Wayne-Westland teacher at the top end of the pay scale is 56 percent greater than the $24,648 earned by the highest-paid Wayne-Westland custodian in nine months. To conclude that teacher and custodial pay is "nearly equal," "almost the same," "a comparable amount," etc. is absurd.

Privatization of schools is supported

To the editor:

No one seems to be talking about an obvious and painless solution to educational funding in light of the excellent property tax cut from the Michigan state government.

Since private schools do a better job and cost much less than the public schools (about one-third less according to one study), Michigan should privatize all public education, thereby eliminating the need to replace school funding lost by the property tax cut.

Further, mandatory education should be repealed to ensure that only those who wish to learn are in school. There would be no thugs with knives and guns roaming the halls assaulting serious students. With modern computer technology and data bases, most education can occur at a student's pace with minimal teacher supervision and the enormous administrative bureaucracy would be the only loser. This plan has the support of the Libertarian party, but what Democrat, Republican or tax addict has talked about such a sensible, inexpensive plan without gagging at the thought of losing its slop in the public trough.

Help for hungry toddlers requested

To the editor:

Have you ever looked into the eyes of a 4-year-old and asked, "What do you do when you get hungry?" and have him/her reply, "I go to bed."?

Have you seen a 3-year-old coming to school each winter day in the same summer outfit with no boots, hat or gloves?

Well, here at Head Start, we often witness these situations. We are attempting to break the cycle of poverty of low-income families of preschool children by providing services that assist with daily living needs.

There is an ongoing need for assistance, but especially at the holiday season we want to ensure that our families are relieved of the stress of trying to provide their children with the things that most children

United Way says thanks

To the editor: On behalf of United Way for Southeastern Michigan, I would like to thank you for Associated Newspaper's support during this year's campaign. Through your paper's donated Torch Drive advertisements, your readers learned about the importance of United Way in our community.

Thanks to your paper's generosity, more than $57 million was raised during the 1993 Torch Drive. These gifts will be translated into vital health and human services, not only in your community, but in more than 100 other communities in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Once again, thank you for your support during this year's Torch Drive. And thank you for showing that United Way is still the best way to show you care. Please pass along our appreciation to the staff at your paper. I look forward to working with your publication next

Tax reform plan praised

To the editor:

We need to resolve the huge disparity in funding among wealthy and poor districts in Michigan. The Vandermolen plan proposes small increase in the state income tax and sin taxes to provide equal funding for all of the students in each of the districts.

In an attempt to provide for enrichment above the base level of $5,000 per student the Vandermolen plan establishes the opportunity for each local district to place a 1-percent local income tax proposal on the ballot once every decade. Revenues from the local income tax would be used exclusively for teachers' salaries and enrichment projects.

Therefore, teachers salaries would reflect the wealth of the district and would be subject to local control. Furthermore, salary increases for teachers would be determined from a statistical factor based upon the average increase of all the wage earners in the district.

One unique feature in my proposal is an absolute requirement that both sides adopt the method of compulsory binding arbitration during negotiations. This would prevent teachers' strikes and school board lockouts when difficulties emerge during negotiations.

Governor Engler's plan continues the huge disparity in funding and allows a few wealthy districts the opportunity to enrich their unfair advantage over poor districts by holding future millage elections. Such an approach is elitist and discriminates against middle-class communities.

Larry D. Vandermolen, Ph.D. Muskegon

New economic system proposed

To the editor:

Those of us in our 80s well remember the sickening horror when we went to our banks early in March 1933 to withdraw money for family needs, and found them closed by government order. They did reopen in a few weeks, but we had been taken off the gold standard. The new dollar was now worth 59.06 cents in com-

In 1940, the public debt was $45 billion. In 1945 it was $279 billion. Today, at $4.2 trillion, the only value of the dollar is the old belief of people that it has value. We are paying over half billion dollars a day in interest alone on the federal

It is in the best interest of every North American citizen, including those who own the debt, that plans be made to overcome the chaotic conditions likely to occur when we must default on the debt and money becomes use less

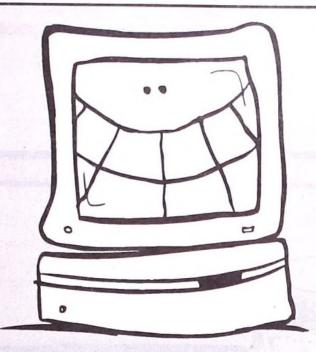

The only solution is the installation of an entirely new economic system which is designed to operate without either money or debt. All we need is the intelligence to use it. For more free information please phone 1-313-777-9052.

Tariq Horne

Considered one of the finest quarterbacks in the long Belleville High School history, Ralph Truitt is a three-year starter for coach Bob La-Pointe's Tigers, who just missed making the state playoffs for the first time this year. Truitt passed for 625 yards, and also piled up 270-yards rushing. He scored four touchdowns and connected on 32 of 75 passes. The 6-2, 200pound senior led the Tigers to a 7-2 record, their finest in 35 years.

Glenn's Chuck Gordon is 'Coach of the Year'

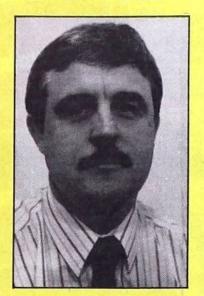

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

There probably isn't a high school football coach in the state of Michigan that wouldn't give anything to have the year Westland John Glenn's Chuck Gordon experienced.

Shattering the school record for the number of victories (11) in one season, Gordon guided his Rockets to a 11-2 won-lost season. His team's only losses were to Farmington Harrison, and to Dearborn Fordson, which defeated Glenn, 12-7, in the Pontiac Silverdome to capture the Class AA state championship.

"We have been very fortunate to have a lot of dedicated and hard-working players and a staff that is second to none," said Gordon, in analyzing his team's success. "When you have people committed and dedicated to doing their job, it's a tough combination to beat."

Gordon's teams have been tough to beat over the years. Anytime a coach takes on the Rockets they know they are in for a battle. During the 16-years that Gordon has coached Glenn teams, the Rockets have amassed a fantastic 127-37

A 1972 graduate of Adrian College, Gordon came to Glenn as an assistant coach to Lloyd Carr and has carried on the Rockets' winning tradition. (Carr is presently the defensive coordinator for the University of Michigan.)

And before 1993 football season becomes history, The Associated Newspapers sports staff wishes to bestow yet another honor upon the veteran Rocket coach. He is the the ANP 1993 choice for Coach of the Year.

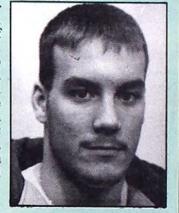

Derek Besco

One of the best athletes to ever wear a John Glenn High School football uniform, Derek Besco took on many responsibilities for the state-finalist He was a wide receiver, tailback and defensive end for the team. Derek and twin brother, Bryan, also are probably the only twins to ever be named to the coveted All-State teams in the same year. Glenn coach Chuck Gordon used superlatives to describe the Bescos and their efforts in helping Glenn post a 11-2 record.

Jason Overton

Multi-talented Jason Overton made a conference and playoff contender out of Wayne Memorial High School. The 6-5, 210-pound senior, who also is an excellent baseball player, was used as a tight end and his role was pivotal for the Zebras' running game. "Jason also has great hands and was an excellent target. He could also intimidate the opposition because of his size," said coach Chuck Howton.

Curtis Balogh

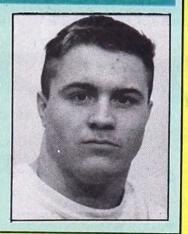

A two-way player and a three-year performer as a tackle at Belleville High School, Curtis Balogh is another Tiger blue chip gridder whose presence on the line provided coach Bob La-Pointe's team stability. The sturdy 6-3, 235-pound tackle was picked by the Mega Conference coaches to the all-conference team for his outstanding performance this year.

Josh Speller

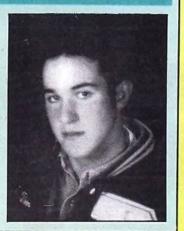

lineup.

With impeccable credentials, Josh Speller brings three years of varsity experience to the All-Area. He rushed for 986 yards and could have broken the 1,000-yard mark if he had not been injured for the final game. The 5-10, 205-pound Belleville senior also scored seven touchdowns and held down a berth on the all-conference team. "It is going to be tough replacing a player of Speller's ability next year," said Belleville coach Bob La-Pointe.

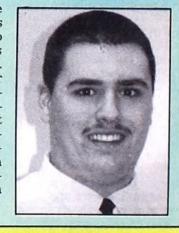

Tim Moritz

Leading the Plymouth-Canton Chiefs for the past two years in pass receptions, 6-3, 200-pound senior TIm Moritz averaged 13 yards per catch. His 34 receptions for 478 yards also helped him earn all-conference recognition. Moritz, who is a scholar-athlete, is a three-year starter for Canton coach Bob Khoenle's Chiefs. "Tim is the best receiver I've ever had the pleasure to coach," said Khoenle.

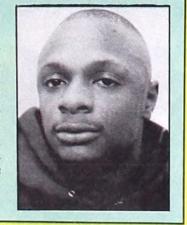

Matt Schwartz

One of the anchors in the John Glenn line on offense was Matthew Schwartz, who rounded out his second year as a member of the Rocket team. The 6-1, 240-pound senior tackle earned All-State recognition for his stellar performance on a team that produced many a star this season. "He was one of our consistent performers," said Glenn coach Chuck Gordon. "His contribution helped make this an unforgettable year."

Phil Franklin

This was not the best of seasons for Romulus, but Phil Franklin, a two-year starter for coach Dan Henry kept the Eagles in most of the battles. A 6-1, 180-pound tailback who carried 124 times for 715 yards, Franklin scored three TDs. He also had 11 catches for 177 yards that resulted in three other Romulus scores. Averaging 5.7 yards per carry, Franklin also had five punt returns for 210 yards.

Geremy Williams

When Belleville and coach Bob LaPointe called for a sweep, you could bet that Geremy Williams was the one to show the way. The rugged 5-10, 245-pound senior guard was crucial to the Tigers' success on the line this year. Williams also did most of the trapping for the Tigers. Also an allconference selection, "Williams has the ability to play at almost any college he chooses," said LaPointe, who has coached some of the finest players in the country.

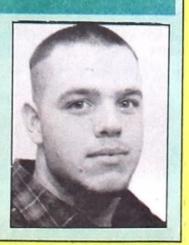

Steve Hurst

A quick and alert center who comes from a long line of outstanding Plymouth-Salem centers, Steve Hurst carried out the tradition for coach Tom Moshimer's team. "We have had some outstanding centers here," stressed Moshimer, "and Steve ranks among the best." An all-conference pick in the Western Lakes, Hurst is a 6-1, 210-pound versatile athlete who had many college scouts looking at him.

Mike Bint

An all-conference choice in the Western Lakes, Mike Bint has played varsity ball at John Glenn for the past three years. A 6-3, 210-pound tight end, Bint was "one of our toughest players who got better with each game," said coach Chuck Gordon. "He's one of the unsung heroes of this team." Glenn had a record year and made it to the state finals for the first time in its history.

Ryan Ostach

An All-Western Conference Lakes pick as a punter, Ryan Ostach has been a member of coach Robert Khoenle's club for the past three years. His average punt sailed 39 yards. "He has excellent speed and is a blue-chip kicker," says Khoenle. The 6-3, 205-pound senior also was utilized as a wide receiver. "He's not going to be easily replaced next year," Khoenle added.

Jake Rathburn

One of the biggest players in the All-Area line, Jake Rathburn played two roles for Wayne Memorial. He switched from the defensive tackle slot to the center when coach Chuck Howton's Zebras had possession of the ball. Jake stands 6-2, and weighs in at 250 pounds. Also an all-Mega Conference choice, Rathburn is considered a prime candidate to play for a major college. "He has the potential," Howton pointed out.

FOOTBALL TEAM

Tony McGill

A 6-1, 195-pound defensive end, Tony McGill helped run the Wayne Memorial defensive unit. His performance earned for him the respect of the opposition and coaches. "They usually ran the opposite end," said Wayne coach Chuck Howton. "They had a lot of respect for him." McGill also was among the elite Wayne players who were named to the inaugural Mega Conference, Red Division conference team.

Scott Valimont

With excellent moves and speed, Plymouth-Canton player Scott Valimont patrolled the Chiefs' secondary. To his credit, the opposition never completed the "big play" in Valimont's zone. A two-year starter for coach Bob Khoenle, Valimont is a 6-1, 170-pound senior who has played varsity ball for the past two seasons. His performance this year also earned him a spot on the Western Lakes all-Conference team.

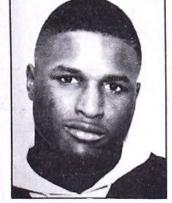

Jay Perko

The senior co-captain of the Plymouth-Salem team, Jay Perko was an "all-purpose" player for coach Tom Moshimer's Rocks. The 5-11, 180-pound athlete was picked to the all-division team in his conference after leading the Rocks to a 5-4 season. "He shared the co-captain duties with (Rob) Shepley," said Moshimer. "Where ever we needed help, Perko was there to fill in. He is an exceptional player and person."

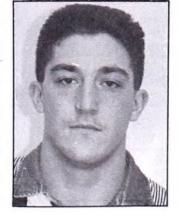

Ken Orr

He can play on any team in any league, say coaches about Inkster player Ken Orr. Only one of two juniors to break into the 1993 All-Area lineup, Orr specialized in cutting down running backs with a precision that earned him All-Suburban Athletic Conference honors. The 6-1, 207-pound junior linebacker will be back next year to help form the nucleus of a Viking team that could be their best in recent years.

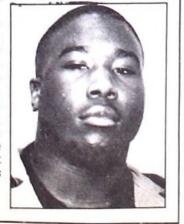

Jeromey Cosby

Search and destroy was also the motto of John Glenn senior linebacker Jeromey Cosby. A two-year-starter for the state runners-up, Cosby is a 5-10, 195-pound athlete who is considered one of the best at his trade, according to coach Chuck Gordon. "Jeromey is quick and can read the defense as well as anyone I have coached. He made a great contribution to the success of this team."

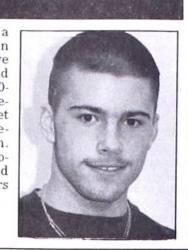

Jonathan Boatwright

An All-Suburban Athletic Conference choice, 5-8, 220-pound Inkster tackle Jonathan Boatwright made it look easy as he brushed aside the opposition and got to the ballcarriers. With Boatwright and White returning to coach Vic Calhoun's lineup a year from now, the Vikings may have the horses to make a run for the SAC title, something that hasn't occurred in these parts in many years.

Matt Howton

Like a tornado crossing a field, Westland John Glenn player Matt Howton can leave the opposition in disarray and in destruction. The 5-9, 150-pound senior kick-return specialist had fans on their feet with his sensational TD returns early in the season. Then, Howton suffered a broken collar bone that would have sidelined most gridders for the season.

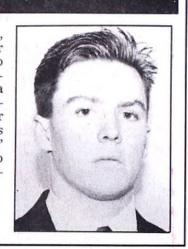

Curtis Lunsford

One of the fastest players on the 1993 All-Area team, Belleville player Curtis Lunsford has been a member of the Tiger varsity squad for the past three years. Groomed as a wide receiver and wingback, Lunsford uses his speed as a defensive back where he managed to pick off three passes. A sprinter who owns several records, Lunsford also scored seven TDs.

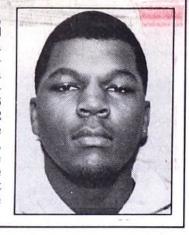

Marcus Zevalkink

A scholar-athlete, Plymouth-Salem player Marcus Zevalkink caused two fumbles and managed to recover an equal number as a member of the Rocks secondary. A 5-8, 175-pound senior halfback, Zevalkink was awarded the Salem coaches' Coaches' Award, presented to the player who displays outstanding courage.

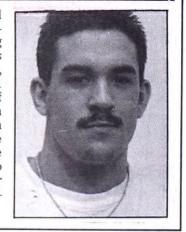

Albert White

Known for his cage acuity, towering Inkster player Al White showed that he is also a threat on the gridiron. A defensive end who doubled as an end on offense, White is a 235-pound junior who stands 6-6 1/2. On offense, White had 22 catches for 456 yards and five TDs. According to coaches, White could develop into one of the best tight ends in the state. On defense, rivals kept away from White's side of the

Bryan Besco

Leading a defense-minded John Glenn, Bryan Besco averaged 12 sacks per game during a season that few Rocket fans will soon forget. Like his twin, Derek, Bryan also stands 6-1 and checks in at 195- pounds of strength. "We used him as an end on defense," said coach Chuck Gordon, "but he has the talent to play anywhere he wants on the field." Besco also was an unanimous choice for the All-Western Lakes Conference.

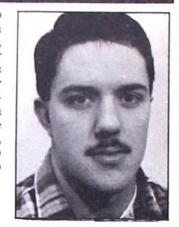

A favor well bestowed is almost as great an honor to him who confers it as to him who receives it.

-Sir Richard Steele

Tom Welch

Only one of two players to represent Romulus High School on the All-Area team, Tom Welch, is a four-year starter for coach Dan Henry's Eagles. A two-way performer at tackle, the 6-1, 232-pound senior also stars in the classroom where he boasts a 3.36 grade point average. On the gridiron, Welch accounted for 70 solo tackles and had 40 assists to his credit.

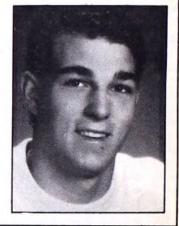

Jason Fuller

Strong and powerful, Jason Fuller helped make Westland John Glenn one of the best prep football teams in the state this year. A 6-0, 215-pound senior nose guard, Fuller stood out in a field of defense that had an abundance of blue chippers. Blessed with speed, Fuller has the physical talent to break plays and frustrate ball carriers.

John Mogelnicki

Quick and tough describes Plymouth-Canton senior tackle John Mogelnicki, who also was named to the all-Western Lakes Conference team. A 6-1, 197-pound tackle, Mogelnicki has started for coach Bob Khoenle's Chiefs for the past two seasons. "He led the charge against the ball carriers" said Khoenle. "He has excellent pursuit skills and he's going to play college football somewhere."

Youth assistance program considered for city funding

By JENNIFER PLACINTO ANP Staff Writer

Westland City Council members considered a possible increase in funding for the Youth Assistance Program, which began in December 1992, during a study session Monday eve-

The Youth Assistance Program, based in the Dorsey Community Center located at 32715 Dorsey Road in Westland, was developed to help children between the ages of 7 and 16 who are having problems in school and at home, Program Director Ronaele Bowman said.

"We need to offer more than we originally intended. We have a lot of young kids," Bowman said following the recent award of a $3,000 grant from Target Stores on Warren Road in Westland.

Council members extended the program until Jan. 31, 1994, but have not decided whether the additional funding will be granted.

The youth program is currently budgeted for $59,800 and Bowman requested $92,214 in funding for the 1993-94 school year. Bowman requested a total of $30,660 for staff and $2,950 for program assistance.

"So far the program is working out real well," Mayor Robert J. Thomas said. However, Thomas added, "The demands are far more than what we can really accommodate."

Thomas said it would be difficult to expand the program because of the uncertainty of the amount of state funding the city will receive and suggested the item be considered during budget time, in the spring 1994.

"Although we agree the need and demand are there, our position is to go through

Are you as a parent maintaining a "student friendly" house? According to 25 high school educators of the Wayne-Westland School District and a handful of students, most parents are not, but not at any fault of their own.

"I think sometimes parents don't realize that high school students still need things like crayons and scissors," said Lynne Elsesser, a foreign language teacher representing the a task force at Wayne Memorial High School.

As a result, a group of teachers and students came together to compile a list of items every home with a student should have.

Items include school supplies like pencils, paper and rulers, books such as dictionaries, thesauruses and planners and mathematic tools like compasses, protractors and scientific calculators.

"New maps are especially important," said Elsesser, "because of all the change that has occurred in places like Russia."

Elsesser believes having these items at the house would improve a student's education and possibly the student's grade. "If a student has to give a presentation in a public speaking class and uses stencils to make the visual aids, it will be a more effective presentation than a student just writing something across the top. These items definitely make a difference."

Elsesser offers her items to students whenever she can, but she does not have enough to supply all of her students.

"I try to give students an alternative way of doing a project if they can't find an item they need, but every house should be "student friendly," said the educator.

Many of the items on the "student friendly" wish list can be purchased at local stores like Parkway Office Supplies, Meijers and Kmart said the woman. "These stores have always been good in helping the students find what they need.'

To attain a complete wish list, contact Wayne Memorial High School at 595-2200.

"We're a new program. A lot of people still don't know about this. We're just scraping the tip of the iceberg," Bowman said.

"If we can't have additional staff and hours, we can't help those with immediate needs. Bowman said.

Bowman said the program receives 30 percent of the referrals from parents, 60 percent from district court and Westland police and 10 percent from other agencies, such as Wayne-Westland schools.

"Some communities are strictly a diversion program. They do not accept family referrals -- they wait until the problem has already happened. I don't want this to be just a diversion program," Bowman said.

"Prevention is really the key. We give so much to seniors. We should start looking more at our youth," Council member Sharon Scott added. Bowman said the majority of the students involved in the World's Most Powerful Slow Drain Cleaner

Soap and dirt leave a "ring" around your bathtub - along the entire length of your tub. That same film builds up in your pipes - all the way out to the sewer. Imagine how thick the "ring" would be if your tub wasn't cleaned since your house was built. That is how thick the crud in your pipes is. No wonder you have slow drains!

If you have even a moderate sized home you have roughly 100 feet of pipe filled with grease and soap scum. Most of this pipe is horizontal. Imagine again a bathtub that hasn't been cleaned for years. If you pour a drain opener into the tub (which is horizontal) it just runs along the bottom. The thick scum ring on the sides is left behind. The same thing happens in your pipes! In the past the only way to remove this gook was to spend $60-$120 on sewer cleaning.

Now there is one product, Plumb Cleans, specially formulated to remove build-up from sink to sewer. CITY OF BELLEVILLE Special Meeting

December 13, 1993 A Special Meeting of the Council of the City of Belleville was called to order at 5:00 pm

Present: Mayor Silvenis and Councilmen Fields, McGuire, Smith, Talaga and City Manager Jeffrey Przygocki.

Also present: City Attorney the press.

financing agreement have not been received. A note from Dick Hinshon, dated December 13, 1993 (4:00 pm), was dis-tributed to Council. The note discussion, there is no final consent decree for the Downriver law suit yet. We received draft version from the Justice Department on 12/9/93, which was not acceptable. Proposed revisions were prepared this morning which are being transmitted to EPA

If your City Council is willing to take action prior to receipt of the final version (ten communities have done so). recommend the following

The local unit hereby ecute the consent decree when it is prepared in final form decree are substantially the same as those set forth in the December 13, 1993 draft prepared by Wayne County."

Hope this helps. I understand that copies of the 12/13/93 draft can be obtained from Tom Neenan (Wayne County Cor-poration Counsel, (313) 224-

The City Attorney indicated that he spoke with the County Attorney and there is some cause to believe that the State Treasurer may not accept the financing structure due to Headlee concerns. He indicated that the agreement has been modified twice since our last revisions were received. He recommended a Council letter to Judge Flekens ex-plaining COuncil's position. The Mayor responded that he agreed with this approach. Councilman Talaga indicated he agreed with the approach. COuncilman Smith agreed with Motion by Smith, supported by Fields, that City Manager should write a letter for the Mayor's signature outlining the steps taken thus far by the City to resolve issues associated with the litigation and convey intent to swittly consider agree-ments when received. Motion carried unanimously.

Cold weather requires top-notch battery power

When the first severe cold wave arrives you may discover that your faithful old battery no longer has the power to get your car started. A battery's output decreases as temperature drops, so a battery that was doing its job during the warm summer months may have only half of its output when the thermometer dips below freezing. Meanwhile, your cold engine may need twice the starting power.

If your car is hard to start because of a weak battery, replace it before it lets you down, suggests the Car Care Council. When buying a battery, you'll be selecting from among several within the size range that fits your car. In ad-

ANSWER: Parking brake. QUESTION: What's the least used component of your car?

Suppose you're about to park on a steep hill; you apply the parking brake and nothing happens. The cable or linkage has become rusted from lack of use. Your only option is to put it in park (or in low gear on a standard transmission), which most of us do as a matter of course. This can be unsafe on a steep grade. The pressure against the parking pawl in the transmission could make it difficult or impossible to move the shift lever.

The proper procedure, according to the Car Car Council, is to secure the vehicle with the parking brake first, then move the shift lever to the park position.

Regular use of the parking brake helps keep it freed up and working properly. Periodic lubrication and adjustment of the system also is recommended.

Because this is a separate mechanical braking system, independent of the hydraulic system, it can stop the vehicle in the event of brake failure. Staffing changes announced

Tennyson Chevrolet recently added two new employees to the dealership staff. Nicole Alonzo is a new and used car salesperson. She has completed an Automotive Sales Training Course and is in the process of completed the Truck Marketing Institute Course. Alonzo brings with her four years of retail experience. Mark McCaffrey has joined porter.

James Thomas has been promoted to new and used car manager at Tennyson Chevrolet in Livonia.

Formerly a new and used car salesperson, Thomas has been an employee of the dealership for 15 years. He is a member of the Legion of Leaders and the Truck Sales the dealership as a body shop Honor Club.

dition to price, your decision may be based on length and type of warranty, cold cranking amps and reserve capacity. The latter indicates how long the battery will hold up withoout recharging. This usually is expressed in amperes of output per so many minutes. The Council reminds car owners that, when comparing battery specifications, one must compare output and reserve on the same amperage/ time basis. Typically, reserve capacity rating will refer to the amount of time a battery can produce 25 amps at 80 degrees F. (Headlights may draw about 15 amps versus a tail light's 1.5

Cold cranking amps refers to the engine starting (cranking) output at 0 degree F. for thirty seconds. A starter may draw 400 amps, so at 0 degree F. it wouldn't take long on a cold morning to drain a battery rated at 300 cold ranking

When idling along in stopand-go traffic, with heater/ defroster, tape deck and lights turned on, the electrical system is carrying a heavy load. It's comforting to know there's a strong battery under the hood. That security is well worth the modest cost of upgrading from "adequate" to

Car Care Council emphasizes that a new battery is no remedy for malfunction of other components. If an engine is in borderline condition, needing a value job or tune-up, for example, even a strong, oversize battery may not get the car started.

Quote of the Week

"I don't normally quote the scriptures, but they (the Romulus Roman staff) need to be reminded that the root of all evil is the love of money."

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally during a discussion at a city council meeting concerning the numerous advertisements placed by Environmental Disposal Services in The Romulus Roman.

Of Note

New ice rink to open

City of Westland Department of Parks and Recreation officials have announced the opening of a new outdoor ice rink in the tennis courts at Central City Park, located behind City Hall and the Bailey Recreation Center at 36651 Ford Road between Wayne and Newburgh roads.

The ice rink opens Jan. 3. Rink hours are from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. and admission is free. Please bring your own skates, as skate rental is not available.

Information is available at the Westland Department of Parks and Recreation at 722-7620.

Jury to hear stalking evidence

A 20-year-old Westland resident will face a jury trial in Westland 18th District Court for allegedly stalking a local woman at her place of employment.

A final pre-trial was held before 18th District Judge Gail McKnight for Thomas Earle Snyder, who was arraigned May 19, was released after posting a $500 conditional bond, which stipulated that he have no contact with the complainant.

Snyder has since underwent psychiatric evaluation, the results of which will be discussed during the jury trial.

The alleged victim, a 23-year-old Westland woman, told police Snyder was continually harassing her at her place of work, a Westland Speedway gas station, Westland police Soft Laura Moore said.

lice Sgt. Laura Moore said.
Snyder was arrested by police following an alleged drive-by stalking incident lasting approximately three hours, Moore said.

The stalking law was enacted Jan. 1, 1993. If convicted, Snyder faces a maximum of one year in prison.

Dollar Store is robbed

Perpetrators allegedly stole some $400 worth of merchandise from the Dollar Store after breaking into the establishment, located at 1203 S. Wayne Road in Westland Sunday night, according to Westland police reports.

Owners reported they were notified by their alarm company and when they arrived found the front window broken with a brick and three bronze statues and a ring rack missing from the store, police said.

Festival of Lights continues

Those who haven't yet visited the Wayne County Parks Festival of Lights still have time to do so. The display will be continue through Jan. 9, 1994.

The Wayne County Parks Festival of Lights is the longest drive-through holiday light display in the state, featuring an animated snowman, a Loch Ness monster, a rocking horse, giant jack-in-the-box, elves' village and much more.

The display is open nightly from 7 to 10 p.m. The entrance is at Hines Drive and Merriman Road in Westland, just 2-1/2 miles south of I-96. A $5 per car donation is requested.

Police probe shooting death of 6-year-old

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

A 6-year-old boy has become the second fatal gunshot victim this month in the city of Romulus, according to city police.

Detective Lt. Kenneth Kraus revealed that James Allen Hunt was killed instantly shortly before 9:30 p.m. Monday in an Oakbrook Townhouse apartment.

Kraus said Scott Martin, 28, of 30421 Teat Lane, called police on the 9-1-1 line at 9:25 p.m. stating, "My girlfriend's son just shot himself with my gun."

Police and ambulance crews rushed to the scene, but found the boy was already dead of head wounds.

A neighbor reported that the victim's mother.

A neighbor reported that the victim's mother, Cheryl Benitez, 26, ran out of the house, crying repeatedly "How could this happen? How could this happen?"

Kraus said that is what Romulus police are

We are still trying to put the pieces together, trying to figure out how the gun went off and struck the boy in the head.

- Kenneth Kraus

still trying to determine, since the pump style shotgun was almost as tall as the 6-year-old who allegedly shot himself to death with the weapon.

"We are still trying to put the pieces together," Kraus said Tuesday morning, "trying to figure out how the gun went off and struck the boy in the head."

According to early reports, Martin and Benitez and a 3-year-old boy were in the living room area, while the victim was alone in the kitchen-dining room area.

One of the ironies of the incident, Kraus said, was the weapon was brought into the home for safety reasons by Martin only hours before. Kraus declined to discuss that part of the case at this time.

The boy's body was removed to the Wayne County Morgue pending an autopsy.

Benitez and her two children reside at a house (30404 Teat Lane) across from the shooting scene, police said

Detective Sgts. Dan Snyder and Gordon Malaniak are investigating the circumstances and at this point are handling the investigation as an accidental shooting, Kraus said.

But because of the size of the gun and placement of the wound, all other options also are being explored.

Earlier on Sunday, a 20-year-old Dearborn Heights man was killed, police said, when he apparently shot himself in the mouth with a pistol at the Merriman Executive Inn near the Detroit Metro Airport.

Home at last Teens' return is Christmas gift

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY ANP Staff Writer

Christmas wishes did come true for at least two Canton Township families when their teenage sons returned unharmed Dec 27.

Tony Hazard and Dan Rauton, both 17 years old, left their homes Dec. 2 searching for a way to relieve the pressure they had been feeling from school. According to Linda Perkins, Rauton's mother, the search took the boys to Florida.

"Dan and Tony drove down to Florida, rented a room in a youth hostle and got jobs as day laborers," she said.

The boys allegedly rose at 4 a.m. every morning and reported to work. "Because they were day labor, they did not have a guranteed job, but because they had a car, they were able to find repeat work," said Perkins.

For three weeks, the two were responsible for digging trenches and knocking down walls.

"They definitely learned a lesson about hard work," said Perkins. "They both have blisters all over their hands and Dan dropped about 20 pounds. I guess I did something right, because they immediately went down there and found jobs instead of stealing or something."

The boys, unaware of the campaign for their safe return started by their parents, returned to Michigan Dec. 26, but were too afraid to go home, Perkins said. Not until the following day did the boys face their parents.

"I got a phone call from the Canton Township Police Department at 5 a.m.," said Perkins. "They told me they had Dan."

The boys reportedly were driving around in the area deciding what they were going to do when their car ran out of gas. After pushing the car to a gas station in Westland, the boys were picked up by Westland police officers, checked through a computer and transported to the Canton Township Police Department.

Dan Rauton

"I was so/shocked about the call," said Perkins, "that I couldn't start my truck to go pick him up. And when I first saw him, I asked him if he knew what he had done," she said tearfully, "nobody should have to go through that."

Evelyn Hazard agreed. "It was the worst nightmare a parent could have, and my concern is that other teens hearing about this might try it."

Perkins said the first thing Dan did when he got home is take a shower. "He commented it was the first time he had showered without any bugs in a long time. Then he went to bed."

Although both boys' parents are thrilled their sons have returned as good as new, excluding their newly-bleached blond hair, they believe things could have been resolved sooner.

"Three days after the boys left, an officer in Florida ran their names through a computer because she thought they looked too young to be on their own in another state. If the Canton Township Police would have entered their names in the computer as missing, we would have had our sons back 22 days sooner," said Perkins. "I had to threaten the police with a lawsuit before they would put the boys name in their computer."

The parents believe the ordeal was a learning experience for the boys. "Tony and Dan learned that life is not easy," said Hazard, "and I know they will never do anything like this again."

"I told Dan, if he ever wanted to take off again, he'd better tell someone," said Perkins. "These kids need to think about the people left behind."

Perkins said Dan indicated a desire to move to Florida after he finished school, but in the meantime, "He's got a curfew, he's going to buckle down on his studies and he will not be driving any car."

A 37-year-old Pontiac woman has been confined to a mental health care facility following three high-speed traffic accidents in which she was involved in a single week.

The unnamed woman first drew the attention of local authorities Christmas morning after fleeing the scene of an accident on Interstate 96, near Novi Road in Oakland County.

According to Michigan State Police trooper Mike Moorman, the woman, driving a 1991 blue Chevy Lumina, struck a 1991 white Mercury Sable station wagon occupied by a family from Gregory, Mich. traveling eastbound. When the woman failed to pull her vehicle over to the side of the road, the family pursued the vehicle and called 911 on their cellular phone.

"I saw a vehicle the matched the description going southbound on I-275 and I estimated it was traveling about 90 mph, so I cut across the median and caught up to her at Ann Arbor Trail," said the traveler Traveling in access of 100 mph, Moorman verified the identity of the Lumina with dispatch and reported the location of the vehicle by radio to headquarters.

Just south of Cherry Hill

Road, the woman drove into a 1989 white Mercury Sable station wagon sending the vehicle occupied by a Farmington Hills family of four careening out of control across the highway into a ditch. The occupants were rushed to Annapolis Hospital by the Canton Township Fire Department for minor cuts and bruises sustained in the accident.

The woman, not under the influence of drugs or alcohol, was arrested and placed in the Plymouth Township jail. Hours later, she was released on a $100 bond.

According to Michigan State Police reports, the following morning the same woman caused an accident near Pontiac in a stolen car. Rather than transporting her to jail following her apprehension in the second accident, the woman is confined to a mental hospital in Pontiac.

Store clerk beaten with metal pipe

By JENNIFER PLACINTO ANP Staff Writer

Two area men were bound over to Detroit Recorder's Court for trial on charges of armed robbery Thursday after a Westland store employee received four stitches to his head after being beaten with a 2-foot long metal pipe and forced to hand over $33.50 from the store register.

Charles Emory Gates, 19, a transient, is being held on a $25,000 cash bond and Shawn Michael Fischer, a 21-year-old Garden City man, posted a $5,000/10 percent bond. If convicted, both men could face up to life in prison.

Gates waived his right to a preliminary examination before Westland 18th District Judge Gail McKnight, however Fischer's preliminary examination took place.

The 43-year-old store employee testified that the robber came into the 7-11 store located at 172 John Hix Road in Westland twice on Dec. 20. The first time, the alleged victim testified, the perpetrator put some merchandise on the counter and then said he'd be back to pay for it. About 20 minutes later, around 1:50 a.m., the same man returned and asked the clerk for a pack of cigarettes in addition to the other merchandise. When the clerk reached up to grab them, the robber allegedly hit the victim on the side of his head causing him to fall to the floor, the employee said.

head causing him to fall to the floor, the employee said. The victim said he saw the robber swing the pipe again and blocked his head and was struck on the back of his hand with the pipe while laying on the floor.

"As I was falling down, I was hit a second time on the back of my hand which I was holding up to protect my head," the employee testified.

The perpetrator then smashed the store register with the pipe and ordered the victim to give him the money, the clerk testified.

After taking the money, the clerk said, he saw the robber run across the store parking lot and head north on John Hix Road. The employee was later taken to the hospital where he received four stitches on the side of his head.

The clerk later identified Gates as the robber in a police line-up, but said he never saw Fischer during the robbery. However, the clerk added, he did know Fischer as a regular customer at the 7-Eleven store located on Merriman Road near Palmer.

According to testimony from Westland police Sgt. Donald Haigh, Fischer voluntarily came to the police station and confessed to his participation in the robbery.

"I was called in to talk with him at the station. He said he would give information about the person who robbed the store," Haigh said.

"It appeared to me that he was not a witness, but a

Westland voters re-elect first mayor in city history

By JENNIFER PLACINTO ANP Staff Writer

In Westland, the re-election of the first mayor in the history of the city was the single most newsworthy event. Voters chose to return Mayor Robert J. Thomas to office, the first incumbent to ever successfully win a second mayoral term in

The campaign was also noteworthy as both mayoral candidates had served single terms as mayor. Westland City Council President Charles Pickering served as Westland mayor from 1982 to 1986 and has sought election to office in the past two mayoral elections.

Thomas won the election by a 2-1 margin over Pickering and will begin serving a sec-ond consecutive four-year term in office Jan. 1, 1994.

With a Nov. 2 voter turnout of 15,130, Thomas received about 60 percent of the votes with 9,910 compared to Pickering's vote count of 5,038.

Thomas captured the majority of votes in each of the 41 precincts, often doubling the number of votes cast for Pickshowed a majority for Thomas who received nearly three votes for every one vote cast for Pickering.

The votes cast were similar to the primary election in which Thomas received the majority of absentee votes and the majority vote in 39 of the 41 precincts.

Although Pickering accumulated some 33 percent of the votes compared to 20 percent in the primary, Thomas' margin also increased from 60 percent in the primary to 65 percent in the general elec-

Pickering, who has two years remaining on his city council term, welcomed the mayor into his second term, saying there are many issues that will have to be addressed.

"I wish him well. He had a plan 3-1/2 years ago and it worked, but the issues are still there ... and they will have to be dealt with," Pickering said.

Thomas said he owes his victory to city services, which he plans to expand even further during his next term.

"People are happy with the service issue and there will be four years," Thomas said. This service will begin with a new fall leaf pickup, building a city library and dealing with the water loss issue, which causes some $60,000 in water loss per week, Thomas said.

However, Thomas added that he does not plan to support a levy of up to 1 mill to operate a library without voter approval.

"If they (residents) don't want to pay, then we shouldn't ering. Absentee ballots clearly more of the same in the next build it," Thomas said.

Teen gang activity troubled Canton Township during year

By CRAIG GARRETT ANP Special Writer

Reports of gun fire and alleged youth gang aggression in Canton Commons apartment complex warranted increased attention of Canton Township Police in 1993.

At one public hearing in township hall, public safety director John Santomauro addressed more than 200 angry and often fearful residents of the apartment multiplex concerning increased reports of gang- related violence including shootings, car and building vandalism and beatings.

The most notable acts of apparent random violence involved two women who discovered high-caliber slugs lodged separately in a bedroom wall and the headboard of an occupied bed in neighboring apartments.

"Unfortunately, what's happening is nothing abnormal," the veteran director said. "But we are keenly aware over the last year-and-a-half of the increased presence (in the Plymouth-Canton community) of so- called gangs. Internally, we've been finding out as much as we can, and we're starting to deal with the issue."

Whether these kids are 'wannabes' or not, they're still acting out and we're currently establishing a strategy to deal with the problem," Santomauro added.

One woman (wishing to remain anonymous) said a spider on a bedroom poster turned out to be a bullet hole. Tracing the bullet's path, the woman said later, she discovered it had traveled through an outside wall, past two solid walls 46 It scared the hell out of me. 77

"It scared the hell out of me," the woman said.

A second woman, Cheryl, said she hasn't slept in four days after making an eerie

"Around 4 a.m., I was sleeping," Cheryl said, "and gunshots woke me up. I heard a 'ping', but didn't think anything of it. About 30 seconds later, there were eight or nine quick shots -- it was like a random shoot-off."

Early the following morning standing outside the building, Cheryl said, she happened to glance up and noticed what appeared to be a hole through the second-story wall of her apartment. Tracing the hole with neighbors, the woman discovered a large-caliber slug implanted in the wooden headboard of her bed, about an inch from where she had laid her head the previous eve-

"We sit outside at night," Cheryl said, "and watch carload after carload of kids driving through (the complex). Many of them are wearing certain colors, and they're just driving real slow and playing music real loud. I know most of them aren't from around here, but they're looking for kids who are. It's very frightening. I' won't let my daughter outside past dark. It's like we're prisoners in our own apartments."

Capt. Alex Wilson said the department plans to target the complex over the next thirty days with a show of police force.

"Whether gangs (in Canton Commons) are real or not, it doesn't really matter," Wilson, an FBI Academy graduate, said, "perception is reality, Are the shooting incidents a direct result of gangs? Or is it vandalism, or someone with an axe to grind? I don't know."

"I do know," Wilson added, "that we're going to flood (the complex) with officers - motorized, undercover and dogs and then, we'll reconvene to see what changes we've made, but this needs to be a partnership effort between police, residents and parents.

Wilson suggested that Canton Commons management, Inconcert with police enforces ment of local ordinances, est tablish rules and regulations regarding outsiders in a vast.

"We've already started doing that," said manager Chris-Anderson, on- the-job for only three weeks. "I have booted several people off the property.

for trespassing.' Anderson added that he plans to approach parents; with a strong message of watch out for your own.

"I personally don't think there'd be so many problems if parents disciplined their children," Anderson added. "Problems often start at

The year that was

A year of firsts and of farewells. A year of protests, battles and lawsuits marked by area newsmakers as one of a kind--but every year is filled with news, both good and bad, which impact on our community and area as a whole. For while many events may seem to concern only the community in which the news is reported, many of the top stories of this year have had or will have an effect on surrounding areas in some way. The top stories in 1993 centered on controversy surrounding a hazardous waste disposal well in Romulus and the extensive investigation of the financial dealings at the 34th District Court. We saw the departure of a 20-year public servant and the reelection of the first mayor in the history of a city. We saw teen gang activity escalate in every community and the response of concerned community leaders to the problems. All in all, it was a year unlike any other marked by events which will not soon be forgotten. Here, as 1993 draws to a close, are the news events which will most likely define this time in our community. Happy New Year.

Court audit tops news

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER News Editor

For nine months, stories about the audit and investigation into the 34th District Court finances have topped the news in five communities.

As the year ends, Michael Ramsey has been named the new court administrator, and a report has been issued stating that some $270,000 in court funds are missing. Still unanswered the court are questions concerning court auction procedures and appropriates which were made despite the protests of the District Control Unit, which oversees some of the court functions.

Beginning in March, when Court Administrator Nancy Schuette and her assistant, Tamara Riopelle, were placed on paid leaves, the continuing investigation has been on the front pages of the Associated Newspapers which cover the five communities served by the court, Romulus, Belleville and the townships of Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron.

Shuette resigned her post and Riopelle's position was eliminated. Following a press conference where she claimed her innocence in any wrongdoing, Riopelle applied unsuccessfully for the administrator's post

In mid-November, Judge William Szlinis, who served as chief judge last year, released the contents of the internal audit of court finances that revealed the shortfall.

The audit report revealed "significant weaknesses" in the internal controls and accounting procedures that require corrective action by the 34th District Court.'

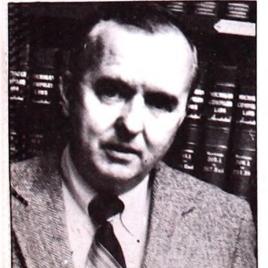

According to the report, "Missing revenue occurred due to material weaknesses in the internal controls which allowed for voids to be completed with no re-entry being made and with no proper daily review and verification of voids.

Hazardous waste well controversy continues

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

The digging of the planned $6.1 million environmental hazardous waste injection well in Romulus, the protests against it and the city lawsuit to block the operation were news in Romulus for 1993 and beyond.

The initial digging of the more than 4,000 foot deep liquid injection well near Wahrman and Grant roads began relatively quietly in July, but exploded into an emotional confrontation during the city council campaign for election in late September.

Charges and counter-charges surfaced during the campaign pointing back to a city council meeting in 1990, when the issue was first presented to city leaders.

Angry and frightened homeowners and other city residents appeared at a September council meeting to initially complain about possible contamination of their family wells.

That led to the formation of a protest group known as Romulus Environmentalists Caring About People (RECAP), which demanded action from the Romulus City Council and a halting of the well project despite approval from the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Pressure continued to build during the council election campaign and Mayor Beverly McAnally said the city would seek a temporary injunction to block any further work at the well site.

Notice: Public Comment Period Transportation Improvement Program (FY 1994-1996) Amendments

Presented by: SEMCOG, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments 660 Plaza Drive, Suite 1900 Detroit, MI 48226 (313) 962-4266

The public is invited to review and submit comments on amendments to the Fiscal Year (FY) 1994-1996 Transportation Improvement Program (TIP) during the public comment period, January 3 to January 28, 1994. The TIP is a listing of federally and non-federally funded major road and transit service improvements proposed by various communities, road agencies, transit agencies and the Michigan Department of Transportation. The Federal Intermodal Surface Transportaion Efficiency Act (ISTEA) emphasizes the public's opportunity to review and comment on road and transit projects proposed for federal funding. This public comment process is part of SEMCOG'S overall responsibility for fomulating the TIP and for approving projects for federal funding.

The additional projects are located in the Southeast Michigan counties of Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, Washtenaw, Wayne and the City of Detroit. The types of proposed projects include construction of new roads, widening of existing roads, resurfacing and repair of roads and bridges, large bus and equipment purchases by transit agencies and operating assistance for transit agencies. The TIP document identifies the location of each project, estimated cost, the source of funds and the agency or community which has jurisdiction over the project.

Written comments concerning the projects should be submitted to John M. Amberger, Executive Director of SEM-COG, at 660 Plaza Drive, Suite 1900, Detroit, MI, 48226. Verbal responses may also be made, at SEMCOG's Transportation Advisory Council (TAC) meeting to be held in SEMCOG offices (same address) on Wednesday, January 26, 1994, at 9:30 a.m.

The TIP amendments are available for review starting January 3 at the following locations:

The city won a temporary injunction to block further well action and also filed several ordinance violations against Environmental Disposal Services (EDS), owners and potential operators of the injection well at the 34th District Court. The RECAP group also began Saturday picketing sessions near the EDS well in November, began Tuesday night meetings of their own to coordinate their actions and attended regular city council meetings to voice their complaints against EPA and DNR actions as well as fears of contamination in the future. Throughout the months of verbal battling, EDS leaders attended council meetings, invited the public to the well site property for inspections and offered numerous full-page advertisements explaining the program.
